ORPHEUS WITH HIS LUTE..

Page 4.

Orpheus with his lute made trees,
And the mountain tops that freeze,
Bow themselves when he did sing:
To his music plants and flowers
Ever sprung; as sun and showers
There had made a lasting spring.

Every thing that heard him play,
Even the billows of the sea,
Hung their heads and then lay by.

In sweet music is such art,
Killing care and grief of heart
Fall asleep, or hearing die.

The Greenwood Tree.

Under the greenwood tree
Who loves to lie with me,
And tune his merry note
Unto the sweet bird's throat,
Come hither, come hither, come hither!
Here shall he see
No enemy
But winter and rough weather.

Face the day fairly, strongly and fairly,
Face the world squarely, straightly and squarely,

Face the world fairly, strongly, and fairly,
Face the world squarely, straightly and squarely,

Who doth ambition shun
And loves to live in the sun;
Seeking the food he eats,
And pleased with what he gets,
Come hither, come hither, come hither!
Here shall he see
No enemy
But winter and rough weather.

Irene Slingerland

Who doth ambition shun
And loves to live i' the sun;
Seeking the food he eats,
And pleased with what he gets,
Come hither, come hither, come hither!
Here shall he see
No enemy
But winter and rough weather.

But now he's dust, and so we trust
That he was fair, and square, and strong,
Cæsar's legions tramped hard by.
Chaucer's merry pilgrims ambled nigh.

There was a lad, an English lad
He heard the guns across the sea.

Specimens (b) Adults

Through the house give glimmering light,
By the dead and drowsy fire:
Every elf and every sprite
Hop as light as bird from brier.

Now the hungry lion roars,
And the wolf howls the moon;
Whilst the heavy ploughman snores,
All with weary task fordone.

Up and down, up and down,
I will lead them up and down:
I am feared in field and town:
Goblin, lead them up and down.

Give me your hands, if we be friends,
And Robin shall restore amends.
